

The Bee Course

by Botanical Society of America

leading scientists and educators since 1893

The Bee Course

Contributed by hcacanindin on Dec 15, 2017 - 02:13 PM

In Partnership with the American Museum of Natural History and the Southwestern Research Station, we are proud to announce the 20th installment of The Bee Course. Held in Portal, Arizona from August 20th through the 30th, the Bee Course is designed to provide biologists interested in pollinators with the tools and knowledge necessary to collect, process, and to begin to identify bee specimens. We encourage all interested parties to apply. For more information, including instructions on how to apply, please visit our new home at www.thebeecourse.org. Applications are due before March 1, 2018.

In Partnership with the American Museum of Natural History and the Southwestern Research Station, we are proud to announce the 20th installment of The Bee Course. Held in Portal, Arizona from August 20th through the 30th, the Bee Course is designed to provide biologists interested in pollinators with the tools and knowledge necessary to collect, process, and to begin to identify bee specimens. We encourage all interested parties to apply. For more information, including instructions on how to apply, please visit our new home at www.thebeecourse.org. Applications are due before March 1, 2018.